Event Report:

We had great attendance of the community. We had scopes on a lot of Galileo objects that night. People were impressed with the sites that they saw. We also had a coloring contest for the elementary school ages and an essay contest open for all. Members donated Celestron's "First Scope" and binoculars to the winners. Other prizes were given from the items given to the club from JPL and the Night Sky Network. The local paper and radio station helped in getting the word out and announcing the winners.
