Event Report:

Around 50 notices were distributed to letterboxes near the location of the event. The weather was perfect on the evening providing excellent views of the Moon and Jupiter as well as a number of deep sky objects. Without exception those attending seemed most impressed. Three attendees were a result of viewing the Galilean Nights website. Several also expressed an interest in attending regular Society meetings. A follow-up night is planned for around the same time next month (probably later in the evening).
